of October, 1857.

It is not now their purpose to attempt a description of the acts of violence and intimidation practised upon that occasion, and which succeeded so signally in defeating the democratic nominees for the first branch of the city council. Suffice it to say that the acts of ruffianism in general surpassed any of the previous demonstrations of that character, which have so disreputably marked the progress of the party in this city called "American," save those only of the presidential canvass of 1856. The police of the city were apparently indifferent to those exhibitions. The arm towards which the people were wont, in other days, to look for protection, was either disinclined to perform its office, or utterly imbedile for that end. Whenever or wherever at times silence prevailed at the Whenever or wherever at times silence prevailed at the polls during that day, it was the quiet of a bloody and over-riding despotism that had no more victims on which to appear its murderous preclivities.

The object of this address, however, in the main, is to reply to the question which has recently been frequently propounded to the members of the Democratic State Center of the present the proposed of the proposed to the members of the Democratic State Center of the proposed to the members of the Democratic State Center of the proposed to the members of the Democratic State Center of the proposed to the members of the Democratic State Center of the proposed to the members of the Democratic State Center of the proposed to the members of the Democratic State Center of the proposed to the cast their ballots at the State election to take place on the 4th of November proximo?

To this inquiry the undersigned answer, that it is the resolute purpose of the democratic party of the city of Baltimore to put forth every legal effort to insure success at the November election. Whilst they do not profess to disguise from you that, in making these efforts, they have to contend at once against the lawless violence of clubs banded together for the express purpose of carrying the election by fraud and violence, and the indifference or criminal complicity of a partisan police, they have not forgotten, and do not intend to forget, that they owe their political brethren of the counties one more carnest endeavor to prevent their voice from being stifled by an unlawful and overwhelming majority in this city. Whatever, therefore, may be the disadvantages under which we labor here, our answer to our brethren of the counties is, Do your whole duty, and nothing short of the assertion of the absolute dominion of a mob shall preof the absolute dominion of a mob shall prevent us from doing ours.

It is true that the wrongs which characterized the late It is true that the wrongs white name created the inserted the inserted the inserted that the creent address of the mayor, furnish slender hope that during his dynasty we shall have any sincere and honest aid from our municipal police. ganization is partisan exclusively, and he, we regret to be obliged to declare, seems to think it has discharged its obliged to declare, seems to think it has discharged its duty when it enables the members of his own party to exhaust their votes. But, notwithstanding all this, we shall omit nothing to secure a full, fair vote of the democracy of Baltimore, and, if we can attain this, rely upon it that Baltimore will once more be entitled to the respect and regard of the people of the State.

But if, on the other hand, the violence which in 1855, 1856, and in October, 1857, disfranchised the democratic party here, should again make successful head against us, and drive us from the polls, we shall, with profound confidence, as a last resort, look to other arbitraments than the ballot-box at home for a vindication of the inestimable right guarantied by the constitution and laws of Maryland to every true citizen of the State. In this connexion it is most agreeable to know that the Thirty-fifth Congress of the United States is, by the constitution of the United States, made the judge of the election of its own members; that the members of the State legislature, to be elected in November, will also have the power desiration arom the validity of the election of these who own memoers; that the memoers of the State legislature, to be elected in November, will also have the power of deciding upon the validity of the election of those who may be returned as members; and that further, according to section 4, article 2, of the constitution of Maryland, section 4, article 2, the elicibility of governor. to section 4, article 2, of the constitution of Maryland, "all questions in relation to the eligibility of governor, and to the returns of said election, and to the number and loyality of votes therein given, shall be determined by the house of delegates;" and by the act of assembly, chapter 244, of eighteen hundred and fifty-three, it is in like manner provided that "all contested elections for computoller, commissioner of lotteries, and commissioner of amissioner of lotteries, and commissioner of the land office, shall be decided by the house of deleas must commend itself to the countenance and support of every one who values rational liberty, and who desires to see the laws upheld, and the lawless rebuked and conto see the laws upheld, and the lawless rebuked and con-signed to the contempt they merit. No one, certainly, that feels an interest in the prosperity of the city, or that has a just regard for the protection of person or property, can desire that the scenes of the last two-years shall be re-enacted; and hence, whilst he might deprecate the ex-istence of a cause, or causes, which will suggest an appeal from the ballot-box, yet he must recognise it as a con-servative arbitrament, under the lamentable contingen-cies indicated.

The undersigned, therefore, invoke the citizens of Baline undersigned, therefore, invoke the cletzens of Baltimore to exercise, if possible, the elective franchise at the approaching election, and also to carefully note such illegal obstructions to the voters as may come under their notice, to the end that their testimony may be given, if required, before the proper tribunals; and to the voters are appealed and provide may be given. of the counties we appeal, and pray them to remember that they have in their keeping not only their own rights, but ours; that they are happily beyond the reach of those horrors which render an election day in Baltimore a scene of blood and violence; and that if they fail to do their duty, they surrender up this fair and proud metropolis, without appeal, to the rule of those who have already without appeal, to the rule of those who have already tarnished her fame wherever the reports of these atrocities have been spread, and who, if their career be not stayed, will render her an unsafe place of abode for any man who refuses to acknowledge their sway.

It is with horror that we announce to the State the existing condition of affairs in this city; for, strange as may seem, no city in the world has a larger proportion it may seem, no city in the world has a party property of moral and virthous citizens. The community as a mass is shocked and disgusted at the surrender of the municipality to the brutal control of not more than two thousand idle, dissipated, and worthless electionering rowdies. But these are organized and armed; and the police, whom the law has armed for their control, inefficiently check the violence which inaugurated them into power, and promises to continue them in position.

But sooner or later the retributive vengeance of outraged rights will respond in its constitutional modes, or the manhood of freemen will create the process of re-

Health of Mr. Chawford.—We are much pained to learn that letters received here from the near relatives of Mr. Crawford, the sculptor, give no hope of his long remaining in this world. A letter dated on the 8th of October, and another of the 9th, hold out little hope that he could survive, at the most, longer than a day or two. Though utterly prostrated by weakness, Mr. Crawford retained his consciousness unimpaired, and bore his sufferings, which are believed to be very acute, with true Christian fortitude. FROM OUR NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT

New York, Oct. 25, 1857. The democratic doctrine in regard to banks, banking, and paper money begins to find great favor with the comnot usually democratic. These mammoth instioutions have long lorded it over the people of our city They have taken the gold from the hand of the citizen and given him rags in return. They have afforded the merchant a place to put his funds, and if he kept the round deposit of $2,000, he could get an occasional discount. osting him not less than ten per cent. on an average. caning out their money at an extravagant rate of interest the brokers and shavers aiding greatly by their co-operation to fleece the people, giving sparingly to the really leserving and necessitous, and upon the first pinch shutting down the gates so hard and fast, and stopping the machinery of the financial nation which they had set in moion so suddenly that it has cramped the credit, the business, and the wealth of the community, and at one turn of the brake snapping off the financial cable as that of the too sudden pressure cut off the Atlantic cable in mid

Our banks are bankrupt. But one bank in this city as a legal existence—the Chemical, which has little circulation, is a close corporation, is owned mostly by the directors, and is a bank of deposit mainly, and stands like an ossis in our desert. But the rest are outlawed, and are at the mercy of any man who has a $100 note and chooses to sue for specie.

As is usual, this matter presses heavily on the artisans, the sons of toil, and the poor. They get little work and poor pay. Jersey money, and money not secured by State stocks, is their pay. One man was in Albany; he had occasion to spend some money; he paid 12 per cent. to have it exchanged there; and when he reached New York, he had to pay 10 per cent. to have it exchanged again before he could use it. A most bitter and intens feeling pervades the community in relation to the conduct of our banks, and that our judges should step in, and uncalled for, with no motion before them, to give aid and comfort to an insolvent bank, that they would not give to an insolvent merchant or mechanic, has no tendency to soften this feeling. Indeed, the suspension of the banks was occasioned by cemented action of the merchants. The sudden and the sullen action of the banks in the refusal to discount induced the parties who had them in their power to make them feel that power. A little relief, a little generosity, a little good nature would have saved many a noble merchant from the shame of insolvency. And when it was known that a run had commenced on the banks on the East and North rivers and far up town, the banks at Wall street smiled with disdain; and when aid was asked for to meet the pressure, that all the banks might stand together, the central banks stood so firm that they could hardly be civil. It was rather supposed that they would be glad to se these weak, out-side banks wind up. No aid was sent and the banks, one after another, broke and shut up their doors. But the great Wall-street bankers did not know their doom. The artisans, master mechanics, builders, up-town merchants, made the long run. At 11 o'clock the down-town run began, and it was a sight to behold Men came in fifties and hundreds. They held a line, single file, at the length the Californians stood at the post office on the arrival of the mails in the olden time; the Bank of New York, and others like it, sent out a man to the side-walk to call men in to get their gold who did not want it, and to encourage the crowd to hold on and persevere to the end. But bravado did not pay, and the Bank of New York was the first to cave in. The American Exchange Bank, which certified checks of the Ohio Life Trust Company to the amount of $400,000 on the day the institution failed, though at the time the in stitution had not one dollar of the money in the bank was especially deficient. In the midst of the run the president came out on the steps and made speech. He said that his bank, with several others, could not be broken. But the crowd pressed on, and the bank suspended. And now, like a train of cars off the track, with the engine bottom-up in a deep ditch, the platform broken, and the cars a general wreck, the passengers

THE CITY COUNCILS ON MONDAY NIGHT. -In the Board of Aldermen the substitute of the Common Council for the special police bill was taken up and unanimously negatived, and sent back. A motion in the lower board to recede from the amendment finally prevailed, and the original bill, after considerable discussion, was passed. It will be recollected that the effect of this bill is to authorize the mayor to appoint twenty-five extra nightwatchmen, at $2 per night, to act under orders of the captain of the Auxiliary Guard. In the Common Council, also, an amended bill from the upper board was passed, appropriating five hundred and fifty dollars for removing the old fish shed in the Centre Market, and erecting in its stead a new market shed, to extend from the watch-house to the new sheds already constructed. In the Board of Aldermen a communication was re ceived from the mayor, enclosing the following communication from the corporation attorney:

It has been decided, upon argument, that, al-though the attempt by the corporation to exercise the power of selecting police magistrates from the body of county justices by elections held in joint meeting of the two nere nullity, the charter requiring that the boards was a mere nullity, the charter requiring that these officers should be appointed by the mayor, on nomination to, and confirmation by, the board of aldermen, yet that it does not follow that the judgments rendered by the elected magistrates are void; but that, until there was a valid execution of the power to select in the manner above indicated, the ordinary justices of the peace had justication in all cases of and under fifty dollars; and the supposed police magistrates being justices of the peace of the county, their judgments were valid.

2. Two cases came up in which judgments had been rendered against parties for selling "lager beer" without license. The warrants appear to have been framed under the ordinance of October 9, 1854, "to suppress the sale by the small of spirituous and intoxicating drinks," which is the only act imposing a penalty for the sale of "lager beer" by name, or in which such general words are used as might be argued to include it. A New Star Discovered.

I HAVE just received from Philadelphia a large lot of the new rising star, double oven cook stove, and union complete, single oven, which was gotten up to my order, and which I can confidently recommend to my customers and the public generally. They are a decided improvement on the old morning star. I had them got up expressly for this market. They are very heavy and strong, and cast of the very best Pennsylvania malleable iron. All the cooking utensils are make extra heavy.

I have also the liberty star, made by Messra. Abbott & Lawrence, of Philadelphia; the Light street double oven cook, made by Messra. Haward, Bartlett, & Co., of Baltimore, together with the very best airlight fath-top cooking stoves that can be found in this or any other market, some of which are the celebrated suurise, improved gibbe, flora cook, noble cook, and the blue ridge sir-light cook. If any man can produce a better cooking stove to excel the above stoves for roasting, baking, &c., I will give him $50 on each one. Please call and examine them; it will cost you nothing, and you will see all kinds and sorts of stoves, &c. For sale at

N. R.—As to the sea shell flat-top cooking stove, I have examined it thoroughly in Philadelphia, and think it has a very appropriate name. Shell ; yes, they will not last one season. It is a good name for them, and good for the makers. And as to the old merning star, I sold thous last fall, but will not sell them again. They are as thin as pasteboard; I can prove that the maker's agent arged me for almost a day last summer is my counting roop to sell them this fall, saying if I would take twenty-five of them he would give me the exclusive agency of them for five years. I told him I would not have them at any price, they are so thinly made. They are handbilled over town by one that said last fall that they were not worth having. Can be found also at the Metropolitan Stove and Grate Factory all kinds of house-furnishing articles.
